Docket No.: 406462000200
Filing Date: 09/30/99

Detailed Office Action

37 C.F.R. § 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 C.F.R. § 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 C.F.R. § 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection on 22 November, 2006. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 C.F.R. § 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 C.F.R. § 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 C.F.R. § 1.114. Applicants' submission filed on 22 November, 2006, has been entered.

Status of the Claims

Claims 1-32 have been canceled without prejudice or disclaimer, claims 33 and 34 amended, and new claims 35-42 submitted in the communication filed 22 November, 2006.

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement filed 22 November, 2006, has been placed in the application file and the information referred to therein has been considered.

35 U.S.C. § 103(a)

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Subject matter developed by another person, which qualifies as prior art only under subsection (f) or (g) of section 102 of this title, shall not preclude patentability under this section where the subject matter and the claimed invention were, at the time the invention was made, owned by the same person or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 C.F.R. § 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. § 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. § 102(f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a).

The previous rejection of claims 33 and 34 under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lowell (1998), is hereby withdrawn in response to applicants' amendment and arguments.

Claims 33-42 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sarngadharan et al. (1992) in view of Lowell (1998) and Anselem et al. (1998). The amended claims are directed toward a method for the induction of anti-HIV neutralizing antibodies by administering a composition comprising a C-terminal truncated gp160, proteosome, and bioadhesive nanoemulsion. Sarngadharan and colleagues provide an oligomeric gp160 obtained from a chronically infected HIV-I₄₅₁ cell line. This is the same antigen employed by applicants. Lowell provides art-recognized methods for increasing the immunogenicity of an immunogenic preparation through the administration of proteosomes and hydrophobic anchors. Finally, Anselem and associates teach that the addition of bioadhesive nanoemulsions increases the immunogenicity of an immunogen. Therefore, it would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to prepare an immunogenic composition comprising the recombinant oligomeric gp160 of Sarngadharan et al. (1992), the proteosomes and hydrophobic anchor of Lowell (1998), and the bioadhesive nanoemulsion of Anselem et al. (1998). One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to employ both proteosomes and nanoemulsions since the prior art demonstrates that these reagents increase the immunogenicity of any given immunogen. Therefore, their inclusion in an immunogenic composition would be expected to increase the immunogenicity of the immunogen of interest. One of ordinary skill in the art would have also been motivated to administer this composition to mucosal sites since HIV is a sexually transmitted disease. Strong mucosal immune responses should prove useful in combating HIV infection.
